Valley Horse Show in T.F. Discontinued

A decision by directors of the Frontier Riding club to discontinue the Magie Valley Horse Show was announced Friday by the club's president, E. Holman.

Holman said the decision was made because of "lack of public support."

He said approximately $10,000 was expected to be raised for the show, but the club lost about $300 a year. Holman said that only eight or ten people were put out any work for the show.

The horse show has been held in Twin Falls for the past 14 years. The event was considered one of the outstanding shows in the Intermountain West.

Boy Wounded As He Works On Trap Line

MURTAUGH, Jan. 25.—A Murtaugh boy escaped serious injury Saturday when he was wounded by a 22-caliber rifle bullet while setting traps for muskrat with a companion in Snake river canyon.

Boys, 13 and 15, were hunting when the 13-year-old boy was shot while accompanying Vernon Buckerton to the canyon.

The rifle was discharged accidentally. The boy was struck in the right arm. The boy was taken to his home, Buckerton said, and after he was concerned because the boy "seemed to be bleeding a little," Buckerton followed the boy home and then called Cass Turner, deputy sheriff, Clifford Turner, sheriff.

Turner rushed the youth to Magie Valley Memorial hospital where the boy's arm was removed and the wound closed. The boy was taken to his home and the wound was closed.

The examining physicians said the boy should be able to return to his home in a few days.

Buckerton said the boy was discharged when it was determined that the boy was not seriously injured.

Turner said the boy was discharged from the hospital without treatment.

Mrs. Buckerton said the boy had been shot while working on a trap line.

A sheriff said he would investigate the cause of the accident.

The accident occurred about 3:30 p.m.

Disarmament Deals Is Price in Missile Ban

MOSCOW, Jan. 25.—Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev said in a speech published Sunday the Soviet Union is ready to discuss a ban on atomic and ballistic missiles—but only as part of a disarmament package deal. He made clear he was not proposing such a ban outside an agreement that would include disarmament proposals the Soviet Union has been trying to sell without success in the past. The conditions Khrushchev said would be called for the West to agree to dismantle military bases with which, he said, the United States has surrounded the Soviet Union and the communist camp.

MIKE GRAY GIVES TWIN FALLS 35 TO 31 VICTORY OVER JEROME

Four Free Throws in Final Two Minutes by Bruins' Guard Nets Comeback Win

Mike Gray, probably the smallest man on the floor, tanked four straight free throws in the last two minutes Saturday night to give the Twin Falls Bruins a narrow 35-31 victory over the Jerome Tigers. Both teams were superb defensively as they battled to a 31-31 tie with two minutes remaining and from there on Gray's charity tosses were the only difference. It was a come-from-behind win for the Bruins, Jerome owed to a 10-7 first quarter lead after two exchanges of the pace. The Bruins came back to tie it 10-10 shortly after the second period ended and then the teams traded one-point leads five times.

With the Bruins leading 15-14 and one and one-half minutes left, Gary Tomberlin, Jerome's 6-foot, 5-inch junior center, sank a pair of free throws and added a tip-in seconds later and Jerome was ahead 15-13. With only seconds left, Ralph Perry shot the defender and added another two up for a 20-13 intermission lull.

Twin Falls began moving up as the third period opened but didn't catch up with the opponents until only 10 seconds remained in the frame. Then Larry Kinchelo sank two jump shots that tied Twin Falls at 25-25. The Chuck Morley slipped through a free throw just before the third quarter ended and Jerome all tied 26-25.

They jumped that lead to 29-25 before Dave Pitt got a lay-in and Kinchelo then tied it again with a well-aimed tip-in. At 4:10 in the last quarter, Dave Pitt led a fast break down for the Bruins, brought a pass to Gray and Gray laid it up for the first Bruin lead since early in the second quarter. Mike Lehman built three two Bruins points with a pair of field goals and that ended the scoring for Jerome.

The Tigers had two more minutes as they broke up a Bruin stall but the Bruins, coached by Ray, Bill Hilt and Mike Stone then put the ball in deep free and clinched the game. Outstanding for the Tigers was Jerry Moore, who scored 16 points and Ron Kulkup added four fouls and had to exit the third period.

Kinchelo and Pitt pulled the Bruins rebounding and defensive work. Jerome's Jayves averaged the preliminary by an 42-35 loss.

Almost 2,000 Out of Work in Valley As Unemployment Hits Season Peak

Almost 2,000 people were unemployed in Magic Valley last week, according to figures obtained from the Twin Falls office of the Idaho state employment security agency.

Of these 1,900 of the unemployed in Magic Valley are drawing unemployment compensation, the remainder are ineligible for the funds, not remain unemployed.

As estimated 1,600 persons were unemployed at the same time last year, according to it. S. Cutler, manager of the Twin Falls employment security office.

But the number of unemployed in the Magic Valley is not abnormal, Cutler says. It is the summer season when the number of unemployed is at its peak. The number of unemployed in Magic Valley is about 1,600 at the same time last year, he explained.

Renewal of farm activity in this area is a multi-monthing operation, Cutler explains. When farm operations begin, they not only absorb unemployed farm workers, but also absorb unemployed persons who are not employed in the same time last year, he explained.

other related businesses begin operations and hire about 10 percent of those people now unemployed.

But until farm operations begin, the number of unemployed persons in Magic Valley is about 1,600 at the same time last year, he explained.

Cutler explained that if this area is a multi-monthing operation, the unemployed will not be absorbed. Renewed housing development also will take many men now on the unemployed list.

When the Amalgamated Sugar company stopped operations last week, almost 300 men were laid off, but only 50 applied for work through the employment office.

The comparatively small figure of unemployment from the sugar factory is traced by Cutler to the fact that the sugar factory employs many farmers or farm employees. Most of those men return to their farms to prepare for spring work or handle their present farm job.

A gratifying feature of the area's unemployment situation is that no wholesale or retail trade or service industry in the area has laid off any significant number of workers, except the sugar factory, which was expected, Cutler says.

A few of the unemployed persons listed in the area office are workers filling unemployment claims against regular salary. They live in this area but have gone out of state to work during the summer, employed by local construction firms.

Other persons seeking employment are seasonal workers who were brought to this area to fill employment needs during the height of work operations, then stayed here during the winter. This has been brought about because the area usually runs short of workers during the summer or harvest seasons, Cutler says.

If national economic spending increases in the West, Cutler explains, and a building program of defense projects begins in neighboring states, it would affect the local labor situation and might conceivably cause a labor shortage in this area. But if spending declines in the (Continued on Page 11, Column 2)

Siberian Wheatgrass Seed Gains Popularity as Crop

Siberian wheatgrass is becoming the most popular and profitable grass seed raised in abundance in this area. On irrigated land, it will produce up to 1,200 pounds of grass seed per acre. Glenn Nelson, who farms on the Salmon tract south of Twin Falls, inspects an irrigated field of Siberian wheatgrass planted in the spring of 1956. The picture was taken in June, 1956. ## More Farmers Using Wheatgrass For Seed Crop and Use for Forage

Wheatgrass for stock forage and seed has developed in Magic Valley and, especially, the Twin Falls soil conservation district from a first inconsequential acre five years ago to almost 60,000 acres today and one of the most profitable crops in this region.

In 1957 the value of the seed crop was estimated at $150,000 in the Twin Falls area from an estimated 200,000 pounds of seed. An unknown number of cattle and sheep thrive in the range and pasture where wheatgrass is growing.

But praise of wheatgrass does not stop with the high market value and yield of the seeds or its value as a forage crop. Wheatgrass will grow with little water, a selling point with many farmers, and will grow profitably on dry land as well as irrigated land.

Wheatgrass also is one of the best soil-building crops known and is important in controlling erosion.

Although a wheatgrass crop does not yield a farmer anything during the first year, he can harvest the seed or use it as grazing land every year for many years after it is planted without reseed.

In some cases, farmers will sell established grass crops can pasture cattle in the fields in the spring, then let the crop grow to harvest a seed crop, then pasture cattle again.

On ranges where wheatgrass is used for grazing it produces almost 20 times as much feed for cattle as natural range grasses.

The market for the grass seed stems from the demand for range seed throughout the United States, plus planting it along highway rights of way and creek banks to prevent erosion.

Three main varieties of wheatgrass are raised in this area. They are crested wheatgrass, siberian wheatgrass and whitman wheatgrass. All are well adapted to dry land range seedling.

Crested wheatgrass was the first of the wheatgrasses introduced and is now in greatest production with a market price for the seed of about 15 cents a pound.

It can grow upwards of 1,000 pounds of crested wheatgrass seed on an acre of irrigated land. On dry land, crested wheatgrass will yield about 100 to 150 pounds per acre.

Siberian wheatgrass, believed to be superior to crested in that it is more drought-resistant and will produce more forage, is expected to replace crested in five years. It has a market value of about 80 cents a pound for the seed and farmers can raise up to 1,200 pounds per acre on irrigated land or 200 pounds per acre on dry land.

Siberian wheatgrass yields over 2,000 pounds of forage per acre on dry land with 14 inches of rainfall during the growing season.

Whitman wheatgrass is equally high producing with a market price of about 80 cents per pound, but the seed is hard to harvest so few farmers raise it.

Other types of grass seed in production here are manzanita smooth brome and later on, hard fescue, used for mixing with alfalfa hay and pasture grass seeds raised for forage.

Blue grass seed for lawns, and sodar streambank for ditchbank erosion control and highway shoulder erosion control.

The production of wheatgrass began here five years ago when the Twin Falls soil conservation district began looking for a crop that would replace alfalfa in the district but could be raised on land where irrigation water supply is limited.

The supervisors surveyed the district and found two or three seedings of crested wheatgrass which proved promising as the replacement crop they were searching for.

Working with the men were two soil conservation service specialists who believed that since many range grasses thrive in this area, a hundred years ago, wheatgrass would grow profitably.

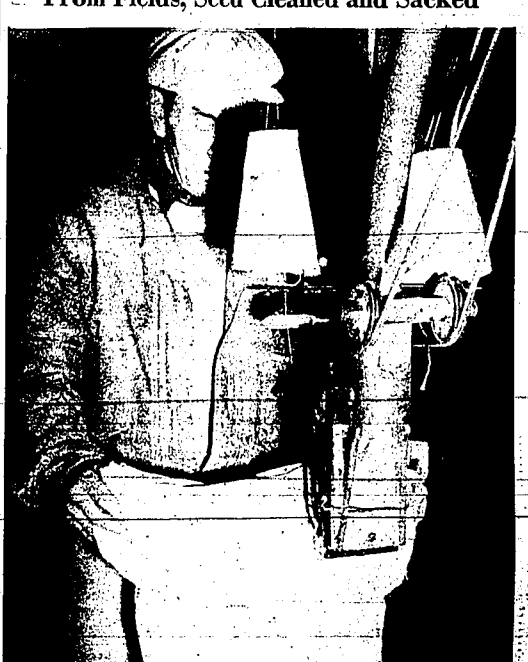

The two men were Weldon Frandsen, range specialist of the Twin Falls soil conservation office, and Donald L. Nick Masuda, plant material specialist.

Desire of Fly Fisherman for Good Tapered Leader Develops Business

A Twin Falls fly fisherman's desire to have a good tapered fishing leader for his own needs has resulted in the fisherman, Harrison G. Blake, 2013 Maple avenue, owning a small side business of making tapered leaders which sell all over the nation.

In his workshop in the basement of his house, Harrison G. Blake, makes tapered leaders for fly fishermen and is now selling them commercially. Making leaders began for Blake when he couldn't find the type of leader he wanted. He uses the nylon on the spools above his head to make the leaders. (Staff photo-engraving)

Blake began making the leaders more than 1,000 leaders and expects to be selling them in all 48 states within 90 days.

Blake has been an avid fly fisherman for all of his life. He was born and raised in Portland, Ore., and as a fly fisherman recognized the leader as his old enough to fish, he was today he has orders for open all of his free time fishing.

In streams in eastern Oregon, Blake moved to Twin Falls and began making the type of fly fishing leaders in this area. He was a real fishing fix and was dismayed because he was unable to obtain the type of leader he wanted.

All of the leaders available were either too expensive or not of the right quality, Blake decided. So with the new type of nylon lines offered, he began making his own leaders, testing them to get them just right.

With the help of his brother, Seth, Blake was able to make and sell a type of leader which attracted him.

A fishing leader used by a fly fisherman is usually six to nine feet long and has to be balanced just right so it will straighten out when cast. Fly fishing leaders are tapered to give maximum strength, good casting return and near invisibility near the fly.

Blake makes his leaders which are strictly for fly fishing in the basement of his house where he has set up a small shop with the necessary material and tools.

Several different sizes and two lengths of leader are made by Blake, the size and length varying for the size of fish the user is seeking.

By sending his leaders to fishermen and dealers throughout the nation, Blake has received good response to his workmanship, and almost everyone who uses his leaders asks for more, Blake said.

He sent a dozen leaders to President Eisenhower and received a letter from the President's personal secretary thanking him for them and noting that "The President was anxious to give them a try."

Fishing equipment dealers who have been offered samples long have shown good response, Blake said, and many are ordering leaders to sell in their stores.

At present, Blake has orders for 40 dozen leaders from fishermen and fishing equipment dealers, most of them in Alaska. Blake uses a brand name of "Hutch and Ready."

Blake's method of making the leaders is to use 18 inch lengths of limp nylon in diameters ranging from .001 to .015 of an inch which he ties together with a special device of his own invention, to form the leader.

Each leader begins with a certain size of nylon and then smaller sizes are tied to it until the necessary length, weight and balance are obtained.

Just a device for tying the nylon together is made out of a piece of wood about 18 inches long with (Continued on Page 11, Column 2)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

What makes the dog carry a tin can in his mouth where ever he goes and why does he have a different can each day?

The citizens of HALLIE haven't figured out the reasons behind the dog's habit of carrying the tin can in his mouth, unless he is carrying a great-grandson of one of the "can-carrying-cannibals" famous in the early days of the mining town.

The sound appears to be a Australian shepherd, for he is white with black markings and has light blue eyes.

For the past six weeks "Blue" has spent his days running behind the sidewalks of HALLIE's main street and U. S. 95 with an important look as cars or pedestrians pass. Many people have stopped and peered him and residents along the street feed him.

The dog is dead and last week was hit by a car. BLAINE county Sheriff L. E. Oates carried him home and cared for him. The other day Oates took him back to his "best" and he is carrying his can again.

"Reducing Religion to Simple Terms"

BY JOHN R. REIMS
(Pastor, Kimberly Methodist)

Walking in a New England wood on Sunday afternoon, a friend of mine told me of his father whose life he admired and whose memory he cherished. His confession that he could not accept some of his father's beliefs but recognized that the strength of character which he found so admirable, came from a sincere religious faith.

Rev. John R. Reims

When you get down to the bottom of things, just what is religion? It is as difficult a question to answer as if one had asked, "What is science or philosophy or art?" But

A separate pit had shovels with jawbones one-half inch long. Cook says many of these finds are on display at the Smithsonian Institution.

Cook purchased his present home in Hagerman in 1910 and married Lydia Scholer the next year. She died several years ago. His roof house has seven rooms and was constructed in 1913. The last addition was built in 1920 by Cook and his son, Vay and Dick.

Cook has a collection of bones from Japan of which he is particularly proud. This was a special gift from the crown prince of Japan when he visited the United States after World War II.

In his collection of Indian lore are bone sewing needles, steel arrow points and several tin arrow points which were used by the natives to shoot salmon on the LOWER SALMON falls before power dams were built on Snake river.

Couple Returns

HALLIE, Jan. 25—Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Gardner returned Wednesday evening from a three-day trip to Blackfoot. While there they visited Gardner's parents.

Earl Shiras, Salt Lake City, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shiras. Mrs. Earl Shiras is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reid, Buhl.

that they do not know how to approach the God they have offended. They are willing to increase their sacrifices even to their first-born children. Otherwise what shall they do? Duty waits on understanding. Micah replies that God is not pleased with the sacrifice of yearlings, nor of thousands of rams, neither with 10,000 rivers of oil. Nor can the size of the soul be obliterated though the first-born be offered on their altars. They follow his classic statement of man's religious obligation. "The hair shaven, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

Justice, mercy, humility! "There is truth in a little creed." So these are religion in simple terms! Let us not be deceived by the simplicity of the prophet's words. Who is sufficient for these things? Where is he who will stand forth and declare that he is always and everywhere just in all his dealings with men? And even were there among us, one whose justice is absolute, who could stand before him? For who wants to be given exactly what he deserves—no more, no less? Justice is a many splendored thing and the cry for simple statements, if we have the genius to do so. But the demands of religion are greater than we shall ever be able to meet without the help of God. The lesson we need to learn is that all morality is inseparable from and rooted in religion and that the true worship of God is the service of man. Do justice, love mercy, and walk humbly with thy God and the world will honor your memory when you are no more.

So we come to Micah's second ingredient of religion, mercy. Coupled with justice, mercy gives us a softer, unyielding, implacable.

Ameliorating influence which makes justice bearable and redeems mercy from weakness. Blessed are the merciful. Blessed are they who no longer exact an eye for an eye.

Swift's new SKY-HI 314A combines hybrid vigor with an unusual ability to convert feed to eggs efficiently. This new layer is truly a top performer—whether in floor or caged flocks.

AVERAGES 289 EGGS IN TESTS

In tests during 1956-57, Swift's new SKY-HI 314A averaged 289.8 eggs per hen and produced each dozen eggs on only 3.83 lbs. of feed. The nearest competitive layer in the test averaged 18.2 eggs less than the SKY-HI 314A.

Think what an extra 18 eggs per hen could mean to your income! Even at 30c per dozen, these extra eggs would be worth $45 per 100 hens.

Come in and let us tell you more about this new Swift's SKY-HI Layer.

with famous direct air flow

Yours for as low as $169.95

All these exclusive Westinghouse features:

- Automatic Dry Dial shuts dryer off automatically when clothes are dry.
- Temperature Selector Dial gives you the right heat for safely drying all fabrics.
- Look-In Loading Door opens to form convenient shelf, ends stooping, kneeling, bending.

The same great drying system found in all Westinghouse models. A stronger flow of fresh, warmed air blows directly onto tumbling clothes—not through machinery. Saves current because it's faster. Saves hours of ironing because it constantly smooths and fluffs, then the last five minutes of no-heat tumbling automatically removes many more wrinkles.

Write the weather right out of your clothes drying picture. Here's how. Visit your appliance dealer. Look at the bright new electric dryers. Do a little constructive day dreaming. Then enter Reddy's "Dryer Days" contest. Might as well order the dryer, too. You'll get your money back and $100 in cash if you are a "Dryer Days" winner. Be a winner either way. Modern all-electric dryers are fast, thrifty, safe, completely automatic.

Mrs. Robert O. Brooks, 305 Monroe Street, Caldwell, was announced today as the winner of a Philco-Bendix electric clothes dryer during the third week of Reddy Kilowatt's "Dryer Days" essay contest. Announcement was made by A. B. Gilbert, general sales manager for Idaho Power Company. Eleven electric dryers are being awarded during January and February with judging done by the "Wave Wires," women's auxiliary of Snake River Valley Electrical Association, Gilbert said.

'Here's How I Was Trapped'

Harold (Ally) Houtburg demonstrates how he was trapped between his car and garage wall recently when his car slipped off a bumper jack. He was trapped in crouching position for two and one-half hours until his wife found him. He was not injured but suffered from exposure. Ally was trapped when car slipped off jack which was used too close to center of the bumper as illustrated. (Staff photo-engraving)

Bumper Jacks, Standard Equipment on Cars, Can Be Dangerous if You Hurry

Bumper jacks, which are standard equipment on nearly all automobiles, can be dangerous devices if a person should get in a hurry to change a flat tire and neglect some of the basic safety measures.

Such an accident recently involved Houtburg (Ally) Houtburg, local disc jockey and entertainer. He was in a hurry to change a flat tire on his car in his garage. As he was in a hurry, he forgot to lock the car and the car fell off the bumper jack and pinned him against the garage wall. He was trapped in that position for two and one-half hours until found by his wife.

"I had the car jacked up too high and the jack was in the center rather than on the side," he explains. "It's a simple tool to use." Houtburg says of the bumper jack, "but if it isn't used right, the user can get hurt awfully easy."

Mechanics and low truck operators in Twin Falls echo Houtburg's warning, explaining that almost every car manufactured now has a bumper jack as standard equipment. If they aren't used properly, they can be dangerous.

Thaw Out Gradually Frostbite Is Danger as Blood Vessels Contract

BY EDWIN F. JORDAN, MD.
With the NEA Service in extremely cold weather the blood vessels near the surface of the body contract. This is nature's defense against too much cooling; it helps to prevent large quantities of blood coming in contact with the cold and chilling the entire blood stream.

There are difficulties, however, connected with this process since if the cold contact with the skin is continued, it may lead to frostbite. This has always been a terrible problem for Arctic explorers, mountain climbers, and for members of the military forces.

In ordinary civilian life it is less often a problem, though in northern sections, every winter brings its toll of frostbite victims.

The tip of the nose, the ear, the fingers and the toes are particularly susceptible to frostbite. Frostbite may come on slowly or suddenly, the latter especially if the wind is high. Often, a stinging feeling is present at first in the exposed part, followed by a pleasant numbness usually without any pain.

When the while frostbite area begins to thaw, swelling develops as the skin becomes moist. As the area thaws, red or purple blisters filled with serum or blood may appear.

After the frozen part has thawed may remain cold and lack feeling, later becoming swollen and purple. Death of the tissues may result.

Community Slates Polio Fund Event

RICHFIELD, Jan. 25—Charles A. Brown, Richfield polo drive chairman, has announced plans for activities to raise funds. One community event, a dance and box social, will be held Jan. 27 at the Richfield Grange hall.

House-to-house canvases began Friday with solicitors named yesterday. They are Mrs. Clifford Dayley, Mrs. Ralph Riley, Jr., Mrs. L. Sanders, Mrs. Donald Riley, Mrs. Lettitt Curtright, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peller, Mrs. Glen Hildebrand, Mrs. Eugene Alexander, Cecil Chaffield, Mrs. Carl Piper, Mrs. Edwin Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

The box social will begin at 8 p.m. Jan. 27, preceding the dance. Persons attending the box social will be charged a smaller fee for dance admission. Don Cappe orchestra, Richfield, will play for the dance.

A planning committee meeting was held recently at the home of Brown with representatives from community organizations attending.

A square dance exhibition is planned as a special attraction for the dance. Richfield square dance club members will put on the floor show.

a strong sentiment of Houtburg, stands as rule four.

When changing a tire on an icy road the ice should be chipped away for a solid, non-skid base for the jack, explains one low truck operator who has helped many motorists in time of need. If the jack slips when the wheel is off, it will ruin the wheel hub, he noted.

Motorsists will contend, too, that the car should never be jacked on the jack ladder than necessary. One man explained this pulls both the wheels off the ground, giving the car a bigger chance to twist.

The same effect is created if the jack is put too near the center of the bumper to raise the car, and there's rule seven. The jack should be placed as near the outer edge of the bumper as possible, yet close to the connection to the frame.

The jack may have a solid foundation, one mechanic said, but if it isn't in solid contact with the bumper, or if the bumper isn't strong enough, the car isn't going to stay up. So rule eight and nine specify a good bumper and solid contact for the jack.

In most cases users of bumper jacks aren't hurt seriously if the jack falls unless they are underneath the car at the time, a low truck operator explained. A mechanic added that no mechanics ever use a bumper jack when they have to get under a car. So rule 10: Don't use a bumper jack supported by a bumper jack.

Rule 11—use caution with bumper jack handles—it's heavily endorsed by a conservation officer of the state fish and game department.

The conservation officer is Dick Wright, formerly of Fairchild. Jack years ago he was using a jack similar to a bumper jack, but learned a lesson from Jack or handymen. It is similar in operation, but larger.

Wright was using the jack to get his pickup truck out of a hole. As he was letting the jack down, he handled, under tension, slipped off of his hand and caught him just above his eye. The blow knocked him out besides cutting his head.

And the final rule is to be sure the jack works before using it. If the holding notches are worn, the jack may slip when it is up. Garage mechanics can tell if the jack is worn so badly it is dangerous.

Plaque Given for Dairyman's Achievement

Charles C. Hart, who owns registered milking shorthorn cows and farms northeast of Tuhl, was named to the Idaho Dairy Hall of Fame for 1957 by the Idaho Purebred Dairy Cattle Breeders association. The plaque was presented to Hart, signifying the achievement. (Staff photo-engraving)

40-Year Hobby of Raising Shorthorns Reaches Climax in Idaho Dairy Award

FILED, Jan. 25—What began as a hobby 40 years ago, raising purebred milking shorthorns, reached a climax recently for a Tuhl Valley farmer when he was named to the Idaho Dairy Hall of Fame for 1957, the highest award for stock breeders in Idaho.

Charles C. Hart, who farmed northeast of Tuhl since coming to Idaho from Minnesota in 1918, has lived in Filed for the last 35 years. He presented a plaque naming the Idaho Dairy Hall of Fame achievement at an Idaho Dairyman's association meeting at Pocatello.

The honor designates him as the most outstanding purebred dairy cattle grower in the state in 1957. The award is presented annually by the Idaho Purebred Dairy Cattle Breeders association, a combination of all purebred dairy cattle societies in the state. An individual can be presented the award only once.

The association based the award on achievements with his own dairy herd plus contributions to the community and state and the dairy industry as a whole in Idaho. Hart owns nearly 100 purebred milking shorthorns, one of the best and oldest herds in Idaho, which he calls the Northwest herd.

He has shown and won top awards with his cattle at almost all of the shows in southern Idaho, plus the Pacific International in Portland, Ore., and has had animals in the Idaho herd at the National Milking Shorthorn show at Waterloo, Ia.

Two cows of his herd won first and second place honors at the Pacific International show in 1956. Other cows of his herd have set new records for producing more than 100,000 pounds of milk in their lifetime with almost four per cent butterfat content. Few cows can produce that amount of milk, Hart said, and for that reason his cows are listed on a plaque of the National Milking Shorthorn society.

Hart's work to produce prize-winning cattle started when he first came to Idaho with eight head of grade milking shorthorns. He lent disposition and an ability to thrive on ordinary farm roughage. After Hart lost his bull, Northwind Double Matchless, he acquired another bull which held fine qualities of the milking shorthorn breed, even better strain of cow produce.

He purchased a bull registered under the name of Prince, the first 10 daughters of Charles Prince produced an average of 12,000 pounds of milk, 420 pounds of which was butterfat. The butterfat content was 31 pounds over that of Northwind Double Matchless daughters and the dams of record-breaking 10.

Today, Hart's youngest son, Warren, manages Hart's farm and his dairy herd. He is milking 30 purebred shorthorns in a modern dairy which includes a milking parlor with four milking stalls. He sells grade A milk.

Last year Hart used 36 animals of his herd as show animals, taking top honors at fairs in southern Idaho and the Idaho State Fair.

His plans for future showings of his cattle are uncertain but as he states he is hard to quit after you get started.

When he first began showing milking shorthorns in 1922 as a dairy breed, Hart had to enter his cattle in the beef shorthorn class. No dairy class of the shorthorn breed was recognized until 1924.

He has exhibited his cattle in all classes at cattle shows and has won premiums and prizes and premier exhibitor awards several times. From the Western Idaho State fair at Boise, the Eastern Idaho state fair at Blackfoot and the Utah State fair in Salt Lake City.

He has shown cattle at the Pacific International five times and has the grand champion cow four times.

In 1952 and 1953 Hart showed 3-year-olds in 1953.

In 1954, six of his cows were in the 16 head of cattle taken from three herds in Idaho as the Idaho herd at the Pacific International. The Idaho herd won top honors against herds from California and Oregon.

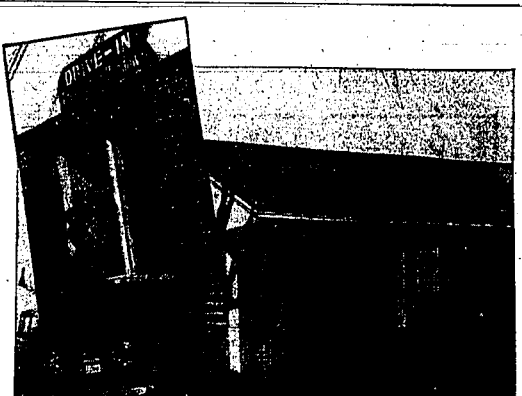

Hart is a recognized and approved judge and has judged the Oregon State fair at Salem twice.

But Hart has not kept his knowledge to himself. He has worked with the Idaho Milking Shorthorn society and been a director since it was formed. He also served once as president of the society, and has been a delegate to the National milking shorthorn meeting for many years.

The prize ribbons Hart has won are so numerous he has no idea how many there are. Besides blue ribbons, he has won banners and trophies with which he has practically filled a trophy case.

But of all the ribbons and trophies, he says his most cherished is the Purebred Dairy Cattle association's plaque, naming him to the Idaho Dairy Hall of Fame.

In recognizing the award, Hart explained that his three sons should receive part of the credit. They worked with him over the years to produce the quality cattle.

Reports From Hunters Provide Big Game Kill Data

Tabulating the harvest of big game from more than 60,000 tag report cards was a long job for Rust Lee Morford, Idaho fish and game department clerk, but he furnished kill information much earlier than other means. Department biologists will now analyze and correlate the tabulated information with hunter questionnaire replies to complete the picture of last fall's big game season. The cards shown here are only a small portion of those received. (Fish and game department photo-staff engraving)

Owyhee County Yields Highest Number Of Deer In Past Season, Statistics Note

by BETH ROSENBAUGH
Idaho Fish and Game Department
A preliminary county tabulation of just falls big game tag report cards shows Owyhee county yielded the highest number of deer, furnishing 15 per cent of all the deer taken in the state.

Boise county was in second place with eight per cent, and all open counties follow in a gradually diminishing rank, testifying to the wide distribution of the species in Idaho.

According to a recent report compiled by Levi Mohler, chief of game management, and the biologists assigned to big game, the leading deer counties in relation to area were Caribou, Boise, Cassia, Bear Lake and Kootenai. On the basis of the deer area alone, excluding portions not containing any game, western Owyhee county would probably rank highest in the number of deer taken per square mile, Mohler estimated.

He said nearly 15 per cent of the reported statewide kill occurred on opening day, which occurred on Oct. 1 (a Tuesday) in much of the state. Twin Falls county reported the highest opening day percentage, with 65 per cent of that area's reported harvest being taken on the first day of the season, and 98 per cent of that county had a three-day season and the rest (adjacent to Owyhee county) had 20 days.

This information is derived from 41,726 cards returned by deer hunters, of which 27,296 reported success with such a large number returned so generally throughout the state, the ratios and percentages shown will prove to be about the same as those for the entire state, though standard statistical correction will be applied where necessary.

In the counties with seasons lasting longer than a week, there was considerable variation in peak kill periods. These variations were due to local variations in weather conditions, hunter habits or preference, and deer movement. Though hunting pressure is nearly always heaviest during the first few days, the greatest harvest in many cases comes later.

In Owyhee county, 10 per cent of the harvest was taken on opening day and 31 per cent during the first week, but the heaviest take during the rest of the season was the week of Oct. 14-20, when 17 per cent of the season's Owyhee harvest was brought in. By contrast, on the Boise drainage only two per cent was taken the first day, nine per cent the first week, and 20 per cent during the last five days (Nov. 11-15). The reason for this apparently backward schedule is that the deer were on the high range at the opening of the season, but were beginning to drift down in fair numbers by closing day.

This year the reported opening day deer kill in 11 counties was exceeded by the take in some later week of the season. They are Bannock, Bonanza, Kootenai, Benewah, Shoshone and Latah in northern Idaho; Lemhi, Valley, Washington, Crn, Boise, Camas, Gooding and Lincoln in central and southwestern Idaho; and Teton, Bonneville and Caribou counties in eastern Idaho.

Mohler said the two-deer hunt helped solve range problems by focusing hunters' attention on the

Assembly Session Held in Shoshone

SHOSHONE, Jan. 25.—At an assembly program at the high school Thursday morning, Philip Edwards, District, told of his experiences as international farm-youth exchange student to Burma. He modeled clothing of the formal wear for men and showed slides of the country there.

Edwards was introduced by Jay Dee Kendrick, student body president.

Programs are being presented by young Edwards at various places throughout Magic Valley. He returned this month following three months in Burma as the exchange student.

Reporting as to sex of the animals taken, hunters testified to a somewhat larger take of bucks than does. The cards show 67 per cent of the deer killed were bucks.

Later analysis of the card returns in connection with replies to the hunter questionnaire will complete the total kill and other information needed, Mohler said.
